The Open Source Open Society conference will bring software developers, open government champions, changemakers and innovators together from across sectors.

We will celebrate and share global best practices, openly discuss the big challenges head on and build a community of people leading the way towards an open source future.

Expect inspiring keynote speakers, interactive workshops and plenty of opportunity for connection, participation & open knowledge-sharing with world-leading practitioners and the brightest local minds.

OS//OS 2015 is being co-hosted by Github, Enspiral, Loomio and Chalkle - a collaboration between rising international stars and local success stories.
